Mission Restoration

Jules Pages, the distinguished artist, has returned to San Francisco from a visit to the California mission buildings. In view of the efforts now being made to restore the buildings to their original state, Pages observations are of interest.

From the camoufleurs he believes the restorers should learn the value of impressionism, rather than of painstaking detail. He thinks too much accuracy in rebuilding and restoring would be fatal.

"The Indian masons and the padres," said the artist, "who built the old missions worked with genuine religious zeal. It is impossible to replace such work with the more accurate but less inspired work of modern builders."

The roof Carmel Mission is an example of failure to adhere to the original plan, Pages found. "The slope of the roof has been altered, so that in place of the long gentle slant built by the padres, there is a sharp "barn" angle.

"The roof of Carmel Mission worried me the moment I saw it," said Pages. "I knew something was wrong, but was not sure just what until I came across an old print showing the original roof."

The California Historical Survey Commission is to meet here a week from tomorrow. All interested in the restoration of Carmel Mission are invited to attend.

WEEKLY GREETING

We have room for but one flag, the American flag, and this excludes the red flag, which symbolises all wars against liberty and civilisation just as much as it excludes any foreign flag of a nation to which we are hostile—Theodore Roosevelt.

TO TEDDY'S MEMORY

This is Roosevelt Week. Next Monday is his birthday.

It is the general idea of those who would honor the memory of the Man that the proposed memorial should be provided by a national free-wili gift.

Roosevelt's memory is the common heritage of all Americans. While his judgments were not always right, no one should be so partisan or blind as to deny his great virtues.

The purposes of this movement are to erect at the national capitol a monument, to create a memorial park at Oyster Bay, and to endow a na ional university to teach Americanism.

Make good your promise—to yourself or someone else—to contribute.

AMERICA'S MILLIONAIRES

By the income tax returns for 1917 it is shown that there were in the United States 3362 incomes between $100,000 and $150,000 each. If the average was $125,000, the total incomes in that class were $402,750,000. There were 2347 incomes betweer $150,000 and $300,000 each. If the average was $200,000 the total incomes in that class were $469,400,000. There were 559 incomes between $300,000 and $500,000 each. If the average was $400,000 the total incomes in that class were $223,600,000. There were 315 incomes between $500,000 and $1,000,000 each. If the average was $750,000 the total incomes in that class were $336,250,000. At the top of the heap were 141 incomes of $1,000,000 or more. If the average was $1,500,000 the total incomes in that class were $211,500,000. The grand total for all classes given would be $1,643,500,000 income among 6664 individuals.

What is your income? You haven't any? Neither did those millionaires until they started to ... and invest.

Begin now and bu... an income. Buy a five dollar U... States War Savings Stamp. It pays 4 per cent, compounded quarterly.

If you haven't got four dollars and twenty cents—that is what a five dollar stamp costs—buy a twenty-five cent Thrift Stamp.

Get started. Get an income.

An income from War Savings Stamps is not taxable.

Look a Little Out

Hunters hereabout are disregarding the provision of the game laws that forbids the shooting of ducks before sunrise and after sunset. Game wardens give warning that violators will be arrested.

Attention is also called to the fact that shore birds, except jacksnipe, are protected, and it is unlawful to kill plover, killdees, or any of the little feathered frequenters of the pond and river shores.

Hunters should also avoid shooting quail until the season opens, which will be on November 15.

To Discuss Theatre Plans

EVERYONE interested in Carmel and its theatre will attend the public meeting, to discuss and adopt plans, to be held at Arts and Crafts Hall tomorrow evening. Bring suggestions and the purpose to accomplish something.

The general sentiment seems much in favor of forming the Community Forest Theatre. With a spirit and will for it, the proposed new organization can readily become a fact. There are doubtless many ways of accomplishing this end. The following plan is offered only as it may recommend itself:

That we incorporate as the Community Forest Theatre of Carmel. The advantages of incorporation are that both the rights and liabilities of stockholders are safeguarded by law; that a proper routine of business is formulated; and that possession of stock carries with it a sense of ownership and interest. The corporation shall acquire a lease and option to purchase all the property of the Forest Theatre. As much stock as may seem wise shall be issued, at two dollars per share, and not to be assessable more than one dollar a year. All profits shall go to the purchase and upkeep of the property. Voting power shall be limited to one vote per stockholder without privilege of proxy.

The constitution shall be brief; the by-laws may be as ample as desired. A general policy shall be prepared: That our drama be essentially home production, actors chosen from Carmel, and native plays and producers given preference. The annual program to consist of a modern drama, a classical drama, and a children's play.

There shall be a board of directors, including the officers of the corporation, probably not exceeding nine. The President shall be chairman of the board and shall appoint from the board the chairmen of working committees—Costumes, Decoration, Casting, Play and Producer selecting, and business committees, and shall be responsible for all finances. Chairman of committees shall select other members from the stockholders. A producer's first duty shall be to submit a budget or estimate of the expenses for the approval of the Treasurer. This will relieve the producer of all financial responsibility and show the corporation just what liabilities are to be expected.

Right Out in Meetin'

Carmel, Cal., Oct. 21

Mr. W. L. Overstreet,
Editor, Carmel Pine Cone.

The Carmel Civic League died about the time that Carmel became a city, and the Civic Section of Arts and Crafts has been dozing since, in the fond expectation that the City Fathers would carry on the work of the Civic League, viz: Looking after rubbish barrels, repairing and replacing broken and missing street signs, placing and caring for way-side benches, etc.; but after several years of waiting, we rise to ask why all these necessary adjuncts of any self-respecting town have been neglected. The remark has frequently been heard this summer that Carmel never looked dirtier or more uncared for. Why? Because there are no rubbish barrels, therefore the streets and chaparral are used in which to throw rubbish.

Our sidewalks, too, are almost impossible in many places for lack of trimming the young pines which are growing as lustily as the town.

Whose business is it to attend to these things, and are there not some funds belonging to the city which can be used for these purposes?

Beauty is one of Carmel's most valuable assets and can be computed in dollars and cents for those who care nothing for the aesthetic side; but Beauty and Cleanliness must go hand in hand.

On behalf of the Civic Section, for whom I have been deputed to speak, may we not hope for some action from our Trustees.

Sincerely, J. M. Culbertson.

WALT MASON, the daily versifier "aint gotnothin' on" Cal Luther. Just read what he wrote and Mrs. A. D. Signor passed on to the Pine Cone:

Far from the dunes and pines we go; to austere lands of wind and snow, where early frosts cut down the roses and all the folks talk through their noses; where blooms the early chilblain rare, and earlobes blossom everywhere; where oh so merrily sounds the croup and ashes garnish every stoop. And there we'll spend the hovrs in play and hunt for hens'-eggs in the hay, and eat our fill of pork and pigeon and in the evening get religion. But ah, the manzanita chunk, and ah, the gentle Carmel skunk. But ah, the wind from off the sea, the threashing eucalyptus tree! The fishing boat upon the bay! By gosh, I'm going back some day!

The Wonders of America

By T. T. MAXEY

ESTES-ROCKY MOUNTAIN NATIONAL PARK.

MANY years ago three Englishmen hunted big game in the Rocky mountains. They had hunted in Asia, Africa and South America, but as they stood on the continental divide in north-central Colorado and looked down into Estes park it seemed to them a very paradise on earth. One of Colorado's most satisfying outing places ever since that time Uncle Sam, in 1915, proclaimed part of Estes and the territory immediately to the west a national park.

Only 70 miles from Denver, it is the most accessible to the largest number of people of any of our great national playspots. Here, at an average elevation of 7,500 feet above sea level, is a pine-scented, snow-capped a pleasureland—a perfectly delightful refuge of peaceful grandeur, where one may be out every day from May to October in clear, bracing air, beneath a bright but scorchless sun and enjoy every night the cool, refreshing sleep that only the mountains can induce.

Long's Peak stands sentinel over the park, in which are lakes on which float ice cakes in August; masses of snow (glaciers) a mile long and hundreds of feet thick, supposed to be older than the pyramids of Egypt, always exposed to the sun, far away from their starting point, yet slower than a snail; moraines great ridges formed by glaciers which moved through the park centuries ago; rock-walled canyons; magnificent forests of pine and aspen; numerous mountain-trout streams; broad valleys, carpeted with luxuriant wild flowers of many varieties, including the delicate columbine—the state flower of Colorado.
